

PLANT FOR THE PLANET ACADEMY COMES TO SEATTLE!

Friday, May 24, 2013 9am-5pm
Golden Gardens Bathhouse; Golden Gardens Park
8498 Seaview Pl NW; Seattle, WA 98117

The Mayor's office and Seattle Parks are giving us Golden Gardens Bathhouse for this free day-long workshop where students learn how to plant a million trees!

*"Now we children save the world."
A children's initiative claims climate justice*

On Friday, March 24th, 2013, Seattle-area students will have the opportunity to participate in the first Plant for the Planet Academy in Seattle (and the first one in the United States outside of the East Coast)!

80 students from ages 8 to 14 will train to serve our community and the world as Climate Justice Ambassadors. Across the globe, over 18,000 young students have been through this fun and educational Academy training and have joined forces as leaders of the Official Tree-Planting Campaign of the United Nations.

With May 24th as a "no-school" Friday for Seattle Public School students, it's the perfect day for this fun one-day workshop. All participants will receive:

- A free Plant For The Planet T-shirt
- A free copy of the book "Tree By Tree"
- Training in how to present as a Climate Justice Ambassador to an audience
- Support getting started with friends after the workshop

We will play experiential games to understand how and why our world needs help, learn about tree-planting with Seattle Parks naturalists, get a photo with local leaders, rehearse a Climate Justice presentation – and end the day giving the slideshow to invited guests.

Students who care about our future, want to plant a truly "tree-mendous" transformation of our planet, and send a powerful signal out against the climate crisis are invited to attend this one-day workshop.

There is no cost to participate, but you must reserve a spot. Go to www.climatechangeforfamilies.com to learn more and sign up for the academy.

STOP TALKING START PLANTING

Many thanks to the Office of the Mayor, the Seattle Parks Dept, 4-H/WSU Extension, and to NBBJ for all the help to make this a free event!
